With a reputation built over many decades for innovative thinking, unbiased issue analysis, and a client-centered approach, we help government agencies and private organizations achieve better, more cost-effective results for the communities they serve.

CJI works with local, state and national criminal justice organizations to improve public safety and the delivery of justice throughout the country.

We take pride in our ability to improve evidence-based practices in public safety agencies and gain organizational acceptance of those practices in difficult work environments. We create realistic implementation plans, put them into practice, and evaluate their effectiveness to enhance the sustainability of corrections policies, practices and interventions.

CJI provides nonpartisan policy analysis and practice assessment, capacity and sustainability-building technical assistance, research and program evaluation, and educational activities throughout the country.

Our team brings decades of experience developing evidence-based, data-driven policies, managing complex processes with diverse stakeholders, and driving systems-level organizational change.

OUR WORK:

Policing: Advancing the field of policing by contributing to new research, furthering police reform efforts, and enhancing police management capacity.

Pretrial: Providing technical assistance to state and local governments interested in adopting promising pretrial reforms with the goals of improving public safety by reducing recidivism.

Adult and juvenile criminal justice reform: Providing technical assistance to state and local governments interested in using a data-driven approach to design, enact, and implement system-level reforms.

Corrections (restrictive housing): Promoting efficiency and improved environments for incarcerated individuals and corrections staff by working with departments of correction, sheriffs' departments, and jail administrators.
