TRAINING

With a reputation built over many decades for innovative thinking, non-partisan issue analysis, and a client-centered approach, the Crime and Justice Institute (CJI), a division of Community Resources for Justice, helps governments, agencies, and organizations achieve better, more cost-effective results for the communities they serve.

IMPROVING PUBLIC SAFETY

CJI works to improve public safety and the delivery of justice by providing nonpartisan technical assistance, research, and other services to improve outcomes across the spectrum of the adult and juvenile justice systems, from policing and pretrial through reentry. CJI provides direct technical assistance, assessment, implementation, research, data analysis, training, facilitation, and more.

IMPLEMENTING EVIDENCE-BASED POLICY

We take pride in our ability to improve evidence-based policies and practices in public safety agencies and gain organizational acceptance of those practices. We create realistic implementation plans, put them into practice, and evaluate their effectiveness to enhance the sustainability of criminal and juvenile justice policies, practices, and interventions.

JOINING RESEARCH AND PRACTICE

With about 40 employees and offices all over the country from the West Coast to the Northeast, from the Midwest to the South, our team of experts bridges the gap between research and practice, bringing decades of experience developing evidence-based, data-driven policies; managing complex processes with diverse stakeholders; and driving organizational change.

WORKING WITH PARTNERS

As a non-profit organization, CJI works with our partners and funders to achieve our mission to improve public safety and the delivery of justice. We partner with governors, state agencies, legislative leaders, courts, corrections systems, law enforcement, private foundations, and more.
